

A market in which prices are declining.